

Ashley Stone Dexter – Nutrition and Dietetics Graduate Program (Alumna)

My experience at Louisiana Tech has prepared me for a successful career in dietetics. The faculty were not only encouraging and helpful but were amazing mentors that were always available to guide me through my courses and research project. The graduate program's online courses allowed me to work full time as a clinical dietitian while completing my Master's degree. I could not imagine a better experience for both my dietetic internship and Master's degree and I am thankful for all LA Tech has done to prepare me for my future.
