

Deverrick Wright
Nursing

My name is Deverrick Wright. I'm a graduate of Junction City, AR High School. I'm also a combat engineer/ heavy equipment operator with the Louisiana Army National Guard. After my deployment to Kuwait, I felt as if I could serve others in a different capacity, here at home. I made a visit to Louisiana Tech University and after talking to the nursing director, felt it was the right fit for me.

The last few years have truly been a challenge, but I am a better man for having attended LA Tech. The nursing program has provided me with many opportunities for growth, both personally and professionally. My classmates have become family. Choosing nursing as my career is one of the best decisions I have ever made. The knowledge I have gained not only in the classroom, but also during clinicals, will benefit me greatly, as I embark on my future career as a RN.

I can say without a doubt, that the quality of the Tech nursing program is impeccable. I would encourage anyone who is serious about pursuing a nursing career, to make LA Tech's nursing program, their choice. It won't be easy, but the sacrifice will be worth it. As graduation approaches and I look back over the obstacles I over came, I know I could not have come this far without the assistance of God and the excellent instructors who have helped me "stay the course." As I get ready to embark on a new chapter in my life, I can honestly say, I am optimistic about what my future holds.
