

Rebecca Robert

Nutrition and Dietetics

The School of Human Ecology creates a great learning environment while attracting driven, motivated students and supportive faculty. Being a student in the School of Human ecology has given me several opportunities to engage in collaborative discussion and group work preparing me for the future. Students around me are positive and focused offering a helping hand and advice when it is needed. I like that the faculty gets to know every student on a personal basis and are more than happy to provide the information and tools needed to be successful while also encouraging me to strive for my best.

